I have over 30 years experience in television, having trained with the BBC, worked for a long time at the now defunct ILEA Educational Television Service, spent several years at Thames Television and then working in a small independent studio in Battersea until I went freelance in 1990. During that time I have worked in most areas; Drama, Music and Documentary. I now work mostly in broadcast but increasingly in the corporate sector. I am based near Esher, Surrey, south west of London and have my own sound kit including radio mics.
