Profile

I am a sound recordist and mixer with over 12 years experience in broadcast sound, and credits on a wide range of programmes, including complex multi camera/multi radio-mic productions. I am used to working closely with the production team and crew, and I enjoy the challenge of getting the best sound out of a given situation. I can happily plan and specify the sound requirements for a new production, and I am also happy to fit into an existing situation. In addition to location sound, I work as a studio sound supervisor and dubbing mixer, and I am familiar with all the equipment and techniques commonly used in broadcast sound. Prior to going freelance I worked as a staff sound supervisor for MTV studios, working on live performance-based programmes, and also as a staff sound mixer and recordist for Hillside studios, where I was trained by ex-BBC staff, and worked on a wide variety of broadcast and corporate productions. I have a good understanding of the whole production process, and I have particular interest and experience in documentary, culture, travel, arts and music programming.

I own a comprehensive location sound kit and a protools sound editing/mixing system, and I can easily specify and provide any additional audio equipment that a production requires.

- Experienced location recordist, including overseas and hostile environments.
- Operator of large-format broadcast mixing desks, analogue and digital.
- Recording and mixing music for TV broadcast.
- AMS Audiofile and Logic operator; ProTools, Soundtracs digital post-production desks.
- Fluent in Italian, some French & German.
- "I" Visa Valid for work in USA.
